How to gain control back.

Losing control is so easy to do but gaining it back is hard. People will become enslaved to something or someone. Sin enslaves so many, and they lose control of their life. They are left with wondering how do I take back control? Well, we must realize what we have lost control of.

They have lost control over sin, over thoughts, and over their priorities. Sin will take up all your time and then it takes control. Next, we must remember who is in control. God is still and will always be in control. God is a sovereign God. No one takes control from him.

We must run back to him and recommit to walking in the Spirit. This means that there must be daily surrender, discipline through the word, and strength through prayer. So many neglect these areas and wonder why their life is a mess. God's word offers us words of life and prayer is how we communicate with him. These two tools are how we gain control back.
