The True Church

In a world crowded with denominations, each claiming a piece of truth, Scripture points us back to something simpler: Jesus said, "I will build My church" (Matthew 16:18, NKJV) — singular, not many. He did not find a denomination, and He did not authorize men to build one in His name. The church that matters is the one He built, on His terms, according to His word.

That church belongs to Him alone. He "is head over all things to the church, which is His body, the fullness of Him who fills all in all" (Ephesians 1:22–23), and He purchased it "with His own blood" (Acts 20:28). Membership isn't granted by joining an institution or signing a roll — it is the Lord Himself who adds the saved to His church: "the Lord added to the church daily those who were being saved" (Acts 2:47). That church began on the Day of Pentecost in Acts 2 and has continued, in local congregations, ever since.

Because there is one Lord, there is one body: "one body and one Spirit... one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all" (Ephesians 4:4–6). The New Testament simply calls these congregations "churches of Christ" (Romans 16:16) — not as a denominational label, but as a description of whose they are. Built "on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief cornerstone" (Ephesians 2:20), the church has no other foundation to stand on and needs none.

Our aim, then, is not to invent a better church or improve on the pattern, but to be found in the one Christ already built — speaking where the Bible speaks, silent where it is silent, and wearing only the name that brings Him glory. If you have obeyed the gospel in faith, repentance, confession, and baptism, the Lord has already added you to His church. That is the only membership that matters.
